Bright TV

VIEWERSHIP

Usage & Base Report 2026

Presented by Sonia Chipu

19 April 2026

Contents

01 Project Background

Scope, scale and operating footprint

02 Performance Analysis

Geography, demography, channels and time

03 Insights

What the data reveals about Bright TV viewers

04 Recommendations

Strategic moves to grow the base

A solid national footprint with room to diversify

10,000
Total Viewership

4,500
Active Users

21
Channels Offered

9 / 9
Provinces Covered

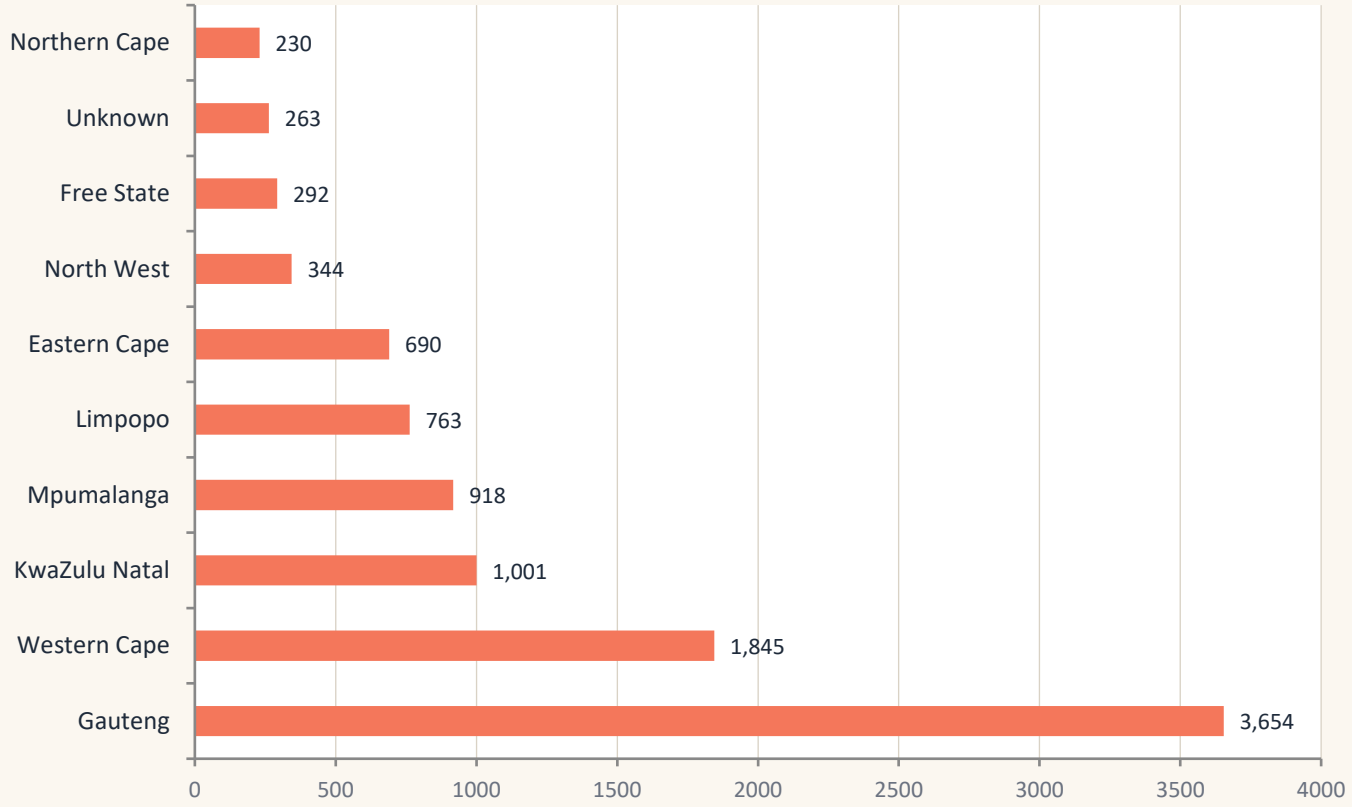
PLATFORM REACH

Operations and viewership extend across all nine South African provinces, consumed by audiences spanning every age category and demographic segment.

GROWTH THESIS

Bright TV can grow by diversifying content, improving personalisation, and intentionally targeting younger demographics through serialised weekday programming.

Gauteng & Western Cape lead engagement



PRIMARY LEADERS

Gauteng and Western Cape concentrate the highest engagement and total viewership volumes.

SECONDARY LEADERS

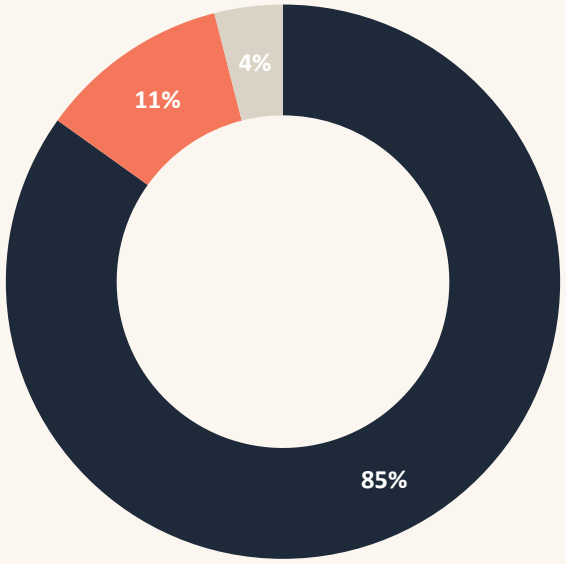
KwaZulu-Natal and Mpumalanga represent steady, dependable baseline usage.

INFRASTRUCTURE DRIVERS

Superior connectivity, dense urban populations and broader marketing exposure power the urban lead.

Concentration in male and youth segments

VIEWERSHIP BY GENDER

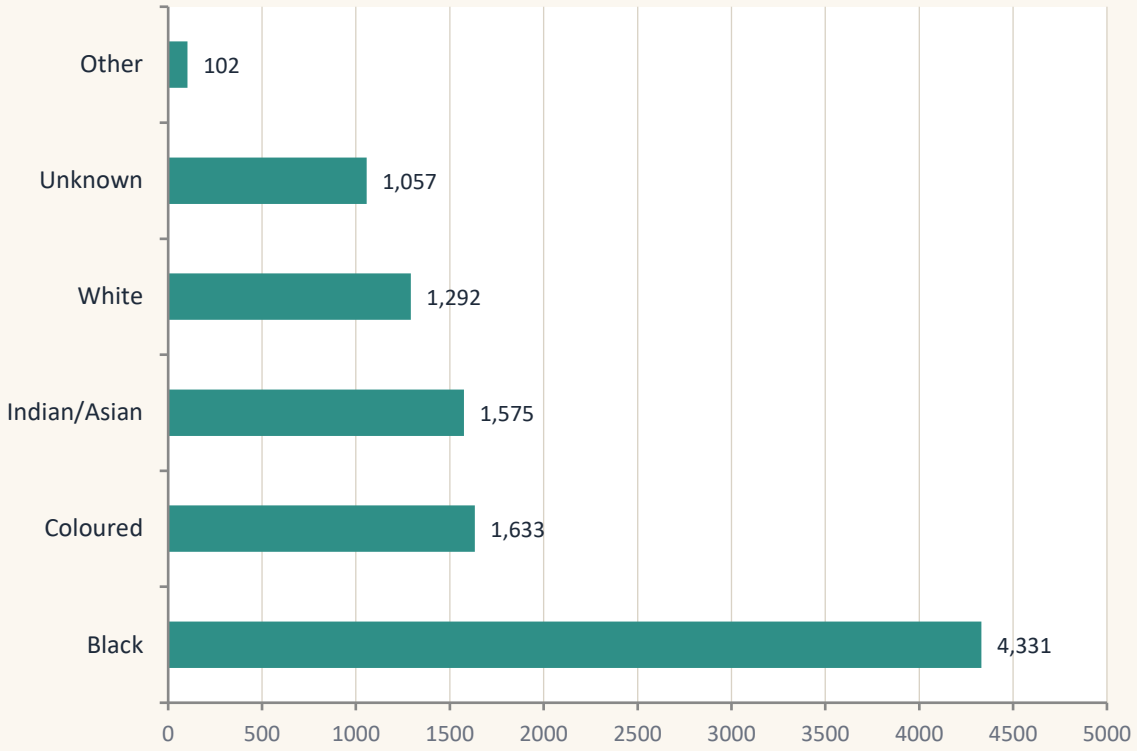


AGE & GENRE AFFINITY

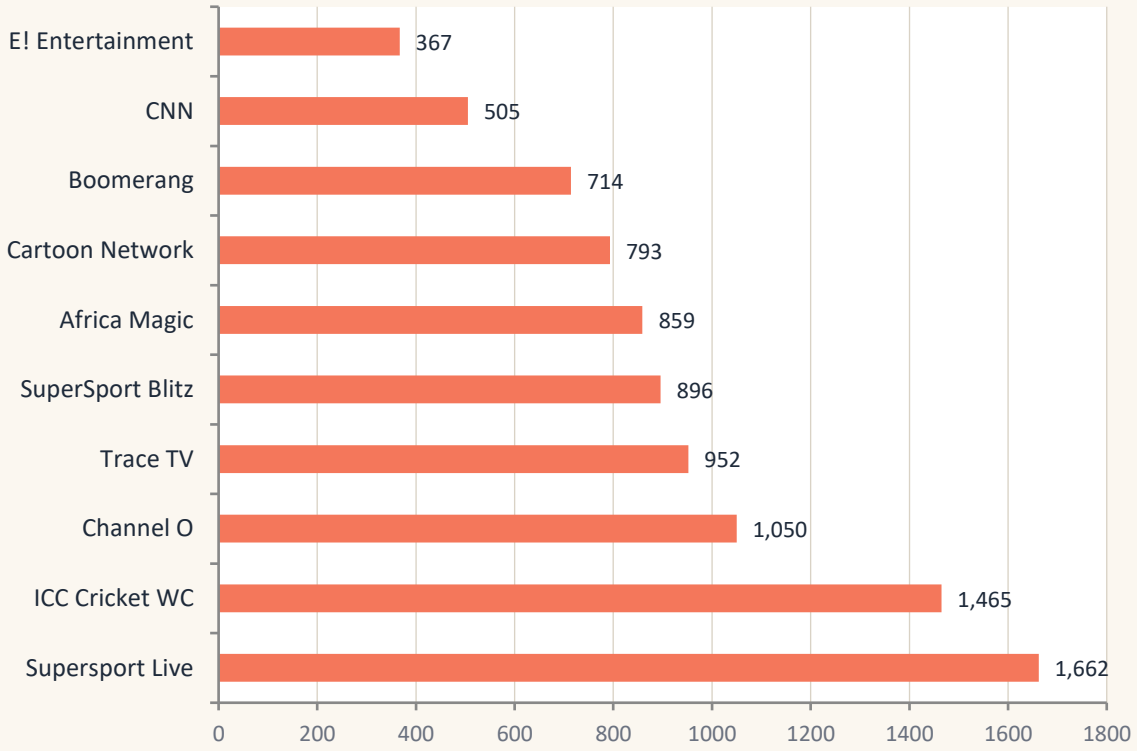
Adults	Sports, news & live events
Youth	Cultural & entertainment
Kids	Cartoons & animation
Seniors	Local drama & news

Segmented by life stage and cultural relevance

VIEWERSHIP BY RACE

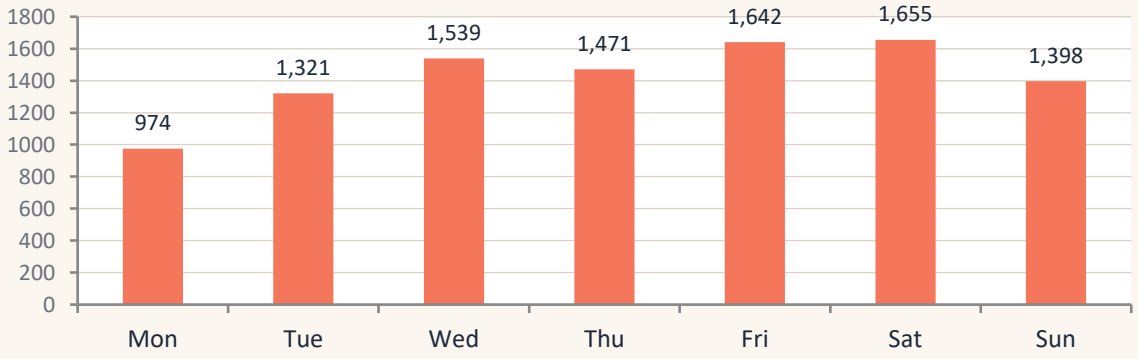


TOP 10 CHANNELS BY VIEWERSHIP

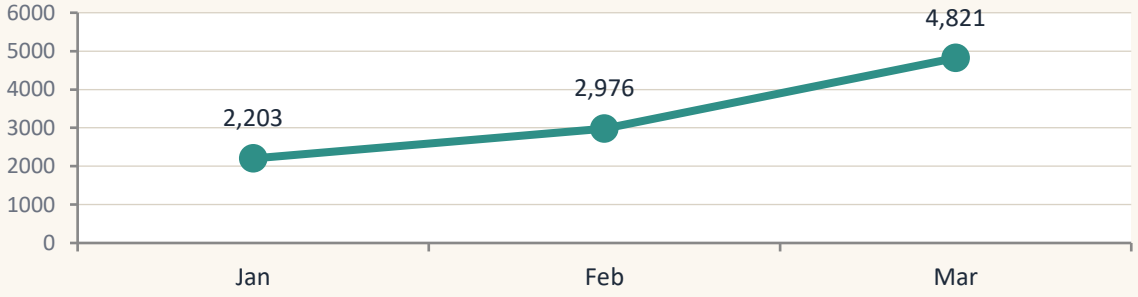


Weekday baseline, weekend peak intensity

VIEWERSHIP BY DAY



VIEWERSHIP BY MONTH



70 / 30

Weekday volume share

Routine weekday habits drive 70% of total viewing volume; Monday is consistently the lowest day.

WEEKEND SPIKES

Saturday and Sunday deliver peak engagement, anchored by live sport. Sunday sessions run noticeably longer than Saturdays.

DAYPART HIERARCHY

Afternoon dominates, mid-morning second; evening, morning and night trail. Stable Jan–Mar with a sharp sporting uplift in late March.

Drive youth & daily habits with targeted programming

01

After-School Block

Mon–Thu · 14:00–18:00

Capitalise on the afternoon viewing peak with teen dramas, sitcom reruns, mood-segmented music video blocks, and nostalgic animation appealing to minors and adults alike.

02

Serialised Weekdays

Daily episodic content

Combat low Mon–Fri volumes with daily soaps, reality formats and host-led talk shows that compel a consistent return visit and build appointment viewing.

03

Cultural Anchors

Local stories, local voices

Extend the Africa Magic success with dedicated blocks for local music showcases, African storytelling, and home-grown comedy and stand-up.

Strategic realignment for cross-platform growth

01

Diversify to Survive

The senior and male skew is a vulnerability. Diversify content, improve personalisation, and aggressively target younger audiences via the after-school initiative.

02

Own the Weekend, Fix the Weekdays

Maintain weekend sports dominance while engineering daily, serialised viewing habits to fix Monday–Thursday slumps.

03

Unified Retail Synergy

Implement the proposed physical menu reductions to streamline the brand experience across touchpoints.

CONCLUSION

A bright outlook, built on better habits.

Bright TV has strong potential for growth. By optimising content strategy, improving the platform experience, and expanding marketing, Bright TV can significantly increase both its user base and consumption levels.

Thank you · Sonia Chipu · 19 April 2026